

Emergency Call-In Pay

An employee shall be paid for a minimum of four hours if the employee is called in on an emergency basis and reports for work that is required at a time not adjacent to the employee's regular work hours. This emergency call-in pay may be subject to the overtime rate of time and one half based on the total number of hours worked in the pay period.